

Sustainability & Business School

Around the world, prospective GME students care about building a sustainable future.

Defining Sustainability

- ✓ Sustainable cities and communities
- ✓ Affordable and clean energy
- ✓ Climate action
- ✓ Sustainable use of water and land resources

With coursework in sustainability, students in GME can align with the UN's Sustainable Development Goals and become business leaders with a sustainable mindset.

68%

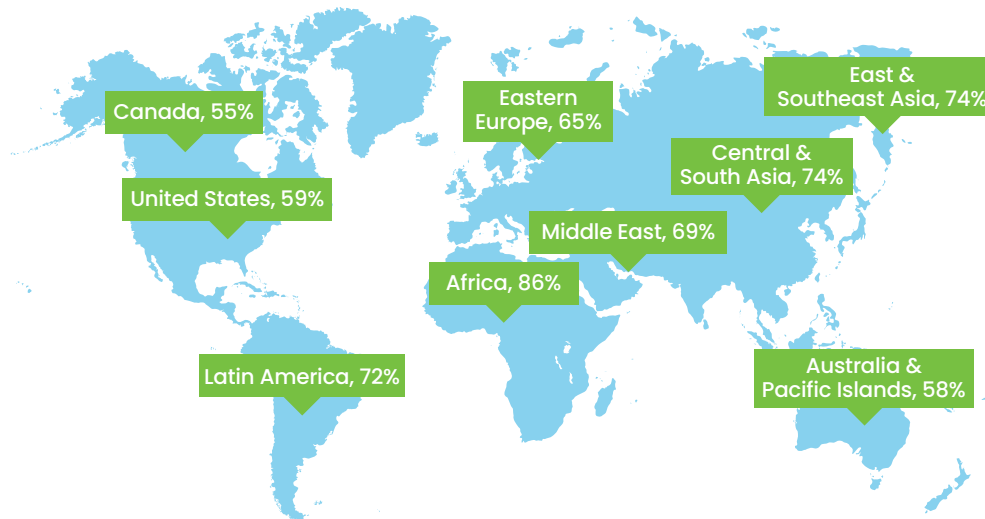

of prospective students say sustainability is important or very important to them.

36%

of sustainability-concerned candidates would not consider a school for GME if it didn't support sustainability.

Candidates from Africa and Asia are the most likely to say sustainability is important or very important to their academic experience of millennials say sustainability is one of their preferred curricula for GME compared to 28% of Gen Z

32%

30%

of U.S. underrepresented candidates say sustainability is one of their preferred curricula for GME compared to 22% of non-underrepresented candidates

35%

of women say sustainability is one of their preferred curricula for GME compared to 25% of men