

Campus Visit by students from Buddhist Lau Tin Sang Primary School (April 24)

Second leg of Charity Event

CUMBA believes in the sustainable community work by giving back to the underprivileged. Led by 18 of our student ambassadors, 40 primary school children (divided into 4 groups) from Buddhist Lau Tin Sang Primary School were invited to come over to the campus of The Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK) for half a day, two weeks after the visit by CUMBA Students to the primary school.

Instead of merely showing the scenic spots and the facilities to the children in the second leg of the charity event, it is our intention to encourage them to have their own dreams and to pursue university education amidst the difficulties ahead.

"Wow! This is the first time I've ever paid a visit to a university. It's huge!" exclaimed by one enthusiastic primary student. As most of the children are from lower income families, their chances of dining out are slim. They were so excited to have lunch at one of the Chinese restaurants in the campus.

This is yet another point CUMBA Students need to ponder, how to strike the balance of becoming a successful business leader and a socially responsible individual.

Upholding TeamMBA Spirit

"We have shown the school children our college life and provided them the opportunity to expose to different cultures. We hope they understand if they study hard, they are able to change their lives!" recalled Vivien Wang, President of CUMBA Student Association, Full-time Class of 2009.

Fun day with students at Buddhist Lau Tin Sang Primary School (April 11)

First leg of Charity Event

28 CUMBA Students became activity leaders during their half-day visit to Buddhist Lau Tin Sang Primary School in Tuen Mun on April 11 as the first leg of the charity event.

CUMBA Students mingled well with the school children by role playing as art directors, English vocabulary masters, basketball coaches and even home economist instructors.

Even though some of our students know little Cantonese to communicate with the children, their sincerity and care speak louder than words.

The school children, who are of underprivileged background, were invited to come over to the campus of The Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK) in two weeks' time to make the whole charity event complete.
