

Job Search & Career Services by Citizenship

2002
global
MBA

Introduction

Schools world-wide attract international students to their programs. Because a primary goal of most MBA students is to increase their career options, it is important to understand their needs in the job search process.

This presentation provides information on the job search process by citizenship. It includes:

- involvement in job search activities
- helpfulness of career services
- stage in the job search (as of March 13, 2001)
- reasons for not interviewing.

INVOLVEMENT IN JOB SEARCH ACTIVITIES (FULL-TIME PROGRAMS) BY WORLD REGION (CITIZENSHIP)

■ Asia
■ United States
■ Canada
■ Latin America & the Caribbean
■ Europe

HELPFULNESS OF AVAILABLE CAREER/PLACEMENT SERVICES (FULL-TIME PROGRAMS) BY WORLD REGION (CITIZENSHIP)

Extremely/very helpful

Implications

Canadians and Europeans are more prone to be postponing their job search. This could have implications for long-term career success as they may encounter fewer opportunities and miss some altogether.

Career offices should to understand the differing needs, priorities, and patterns of these groups to better structure their services.
