

Key Diversity Statistics: Native Americans

GMAT® Exam Testing Year 2015

April 2016

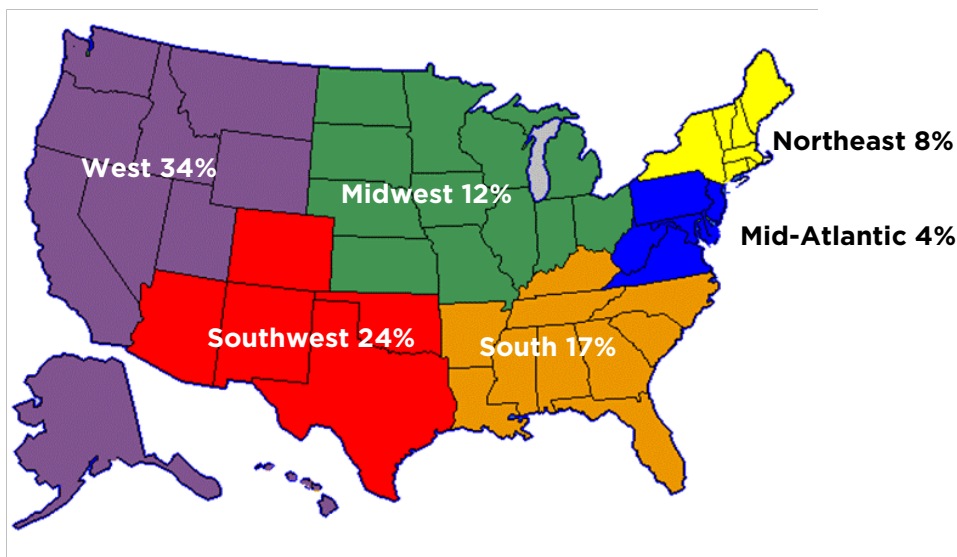

Native American Unique GMAT® Examinees

Population and Geography

Native Americans, with 470 unique GMAT examinees in TY2015, are the smallest underrepresented US population group in the business school pipeline.¹

- Native Americans account for 4.1 percent of unique GMAT examinees belonging to underrepresented US populations and make up 0.7 percent of all unique US GMAT examinees.
- Among Native American unique GMAT examinees, men outnumber women by 10.6 percent (55.3% men vs. 44.7% women in TY2015). Women account for only 37 percent of non-underrepresented unique US GMAT examinees.
- The majority (76%) of Native American unique GMAT examinees are 30 years of age or younger. Within this age range, those between the ages of 25 and 30 (40.0%) slightly outnumber those younger than 25 (36.2%).
- By US region, the West has the largest percentage of unique Native American GMAT examinees (34%). Other US regions with large representations of Native American examinees are the Southwest (24%) and the South (17%). This regional distribution differs from that of non-underrepresented unique US GMAT examinees, for whom the West accounts for only 19 percent of the total.

Native American, Unique GMAT® Examinees by US Region, TY2015

Key Statistics

Native American Unique GMAT® Examinees

- Population and Geography
- Work Experience
- Educational Attainment and Business Studies
- Demographic Profile

Other GMAC® Research

mba.com Prospective Students Survey Interactive Data Research Tool

This interactive report, available only to GMAT using school professionals, features a wide range of data from prospective graduate business students—all filterable by race and ethnicity for US citizens. See results for underrepresented populations as a category, or filter for African American, Hispanic American, or other respondents. The report is available at gmac.com/interactiveresearch

More resources at gmac.com/research

¹ Data are presented by unique GMAT examinees for testing year 2015, the period from July 1, 2014, to June 30, 2015. The term underrepresented populations refers to racial or ethnic minorities that include the following groups of US citizens: Hispanic American or Latino, Black or African American, Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, and American Indian or Alaska Native. The category does not include Asian Americans.

Work Experience

The majority (83%) of Native American unique GMAT examinees have some work experience; their most frequently reported level of work experience was between four and nine years (34%) in TY2015.

- Native American unique GMAT examinees have a similar proportion with no work experience (17%) compared with African American (16%), Hispanic American (17%). This is a smaller share, however, than the 22 percent of non-underrepresented unique US GMAT examinees that reported no work experience.
- In contrast, a larger share of Native American unique GMAT examinees have 10 years or more of work experience (19%) compared with non-underrepresented unique US GMAT examinees (12%).

Years of Work Experience Reported by Unique GMAT® Examinees, US Citizens, TY2015
Work Experience	Native Americans	Underrepresented Populations*	Non-Underrepresented Populations
Less than 1 year	16.6%	16.2%	22.4%
1-3 years	29.6%	33.5%	34.0%
4-9 years	34.2%	33.4%	32.0%
10+ years	19.6%	16.8%	11.6%

*The term underrepresented populations refers to racial or ethnic minorities that include the following groups of US citizens: Hispanic American or Latino, Black or African American, Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, and American Indian or Alaska Native. The category does not include Asian Americans.
Source: GMAC exam data, TY2015

Educational Attainment and Business Studies

Business and Commerce is the undergraduate major most frequently cited by Native American unique GMAT examinees (62%), consistent with all GMAT examinees from the United States.

- The fields of Social Sciences (16%) and Science and Engineering (11%) are the second and third most frequently reported undergraduate majors by Native American unique GMAT examinees.
- Nineteen percent of Native American unique GMAT examinees in TY2015 had not yet completed an undergraduate degree—a share about equal with non-underrepresented unique US GMAT examinees (20%).
- The majority (52%) of Native American unique GMAT examinees report a GPA of between 3.0 and 3.5. Twenty-two percent of Native American unique GMAT examinees report a GPA above 3.6—a proportion equal to Hispanic American examinees (22%), larger than African American examinees (14%), but smaller than that of non-underrepresented unique US GMAT examinees (33%).
- Nineteen percent of Native American unique GMAT examinees scored 600 or higher on the GMAT exam in TY2015—a segment larger than African American examinees (13%), but smaller than Hispanic American (22%) and non-underrepresented unique US GMAT examinees (42%).
- More than 2 in 3 (69%) Native American unique GMAT examinees intend to pursue a Master of Business Administration (MBA) degree. This proportion is roughly consistent with African American (66%), Hispanic American (65%), and non-underrepresented (66%) unique US GMAT examinees.
- A slightly smaller proportion of Native American unique GMAT examinees intend to study full-time (56%) in comparison with African American (63%) and Hispanic American (59%). Native American unique GMAT examinees intend to study part-time (20%) and in executive MBA programs (8%) in larger proportions than African American, Hispanic American, and non-underrepresented unique US GMAT examinees.

Demographic Profiles

Demographic data for the 470 unique GMAT examinees in TY2015 who identified themselves as “Native American” are presented below. Examinees are not required to provide biographical and demographic information. Bold italics indicate the largest group within each data series.

GMAT® Exam Testing Year 2015*, Native American Unique GMAT® Examinees
Gender <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Women: 44.7% Men: 55.3% Age range <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Younger than 25: 36.2% 25-30: 40.0% 31-39: 17.7% 40 and older: 6.2% US region <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Middle Atlantic: 3.5% Midwest: 12.3% Northeast: 8.3% South: 17.3% Southwest: 24.1% West: 34.0% Years of work experience <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Less than 1 year: 16.6% 1-3 years: 29.6% 4-9 years: 34.2% 10-14 years: 9.8% 15 or more years: 9.8% Highest education level attained <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Still an undergraduate: 18.7% Earned bachelor's degree: 69.4% Taken graduate courses beyond first degree: 7.2% Earned master's degree: 3.2% Earned doctorate: 0.0% Undergraduate major category <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Business and commerce: 62.4% Social science: 15.5% Science and engineering: 11.1% Humanities: 5.7% Other major: 5.2% 	Undergraduate GPA <ul style="list-style-type: none"> 2.9 or below: 26.2% 3.0-3.5: 52.1% 3.6 or above: 21.7% Total GMAT score <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Below 500: 56.6% 500-540: 13.0% 550-590: 11.1% 600-640: 7.7% 650-690: 6.2% 700 and above: 5.5% Intended degree program* <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Master of Business Administration (MBA): 69.4% Master in Business (MS/MA): 6.6% Master of Accountancy: 6.8% Executive MBA: 3.6% Master in Health Care Administration: 0.6% Master of Public Administration: 0.0% Joint degree, MBA/engineering: 0.4% Joint degree, MBA/law: 0.6% Other joint degree: 1.9% Doctorate in business: 0.9% Other degree: 1.7% Undecided: 1.3% Intended study pace <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Full-time: 56.0% Part-time: 19.8% Executive MBA: 8.1% Undecided: 12.6% <small>*Testing year 2015 refers to the period July 1, 2014 to June 30, 2015. Note: Categories may not sum to 100 percent due to rounding.</small> <small>Source: GMAT exam data, TY2015</small>

Contact Information

For more information about GMAT examinees and related diversity statistics, contact Camille Coppock, Director, Marketing, Americas Department at ccoppock@gmac.com. For questions or comments on data or methodology, please contact the Research Services Department at research@gmac.com.

Related Resources

See other GMAC Data-to-Go reports showing Key Diversity Statistics for African Americans, Hispanic Americans, and Underrepresented Populations combined, available at gmac.com/datatogo.

The mba.com Prospective Students Survey shines a spotlight on the next generation of graduate students—their needs, motivations, behaviors, program choices, and intended career outcomes. The 2016 report includes data from more than 10,000 individuals who registered on mba.com in 2015. More information can be found at gmac.com/prospectivestudents.

Additional Recruiting Resources

Diversify your candidate pool using insights from webinars, blogs and other resources available at gmac.com/diversity.

Looking for more students? The Graduate Management Admission Search Service (GMASS®) database can help you find the best talent to recruit for your programs. As a GMAT score recipient, you have access to the GMASS global database of prospective candidates interested in graduate management education—more than 500,000 candidates who are waiting to hear from you.

The benefits of using GMASS:

- Target your audience: Use more than 30 criteria to narrow your search and tailor messages for the best response rate.
- Get the most up-to-date contacts: The global GMASS database is updated daily.
- Find the best candidates anytime, anywhere with our easy-to-use web-based application.
- Save time: Receive automatic results daily, weekly, or monthly, and save your best searches.
- Recruit early: Target GMAT pre-test candidates early in their decision-making process.
- Save money: GMASS is a cost-effective way to build multichannel marketing programs.

To get more information, or to start a GMASS subscription, please contact Paula McKay at pmckay@gmac.com or visit gmac.com/gmass.

GMAC Global Office Locations

GMAC Hong Kong

P: +1 852 2851 0020
apac@gmac.com

GMAC India

P: +91 124 4945270
apac@gmac.com

GMAC London

P: +44 (0) 20 3008 7933
emea@gmac.com

GMAC USA

P: +1-703-668-9600
customercare@gmac.com

© 2016 Graduate Management Admission Council® (GMAC®). All rights reserved.

No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, distributed or transmitted in any form by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise, without the prior written permission of GMAC. For permission, contact the GMAC legal department at legal@gmac.com.

The GMAC logo, GMAC®, GMASS®, GMAT®, Graduate Management Admission Council®, Graduate Management Admission Search Service®, and Graduate Management Admission Test® are registered trademarks of the Graduate Management Admission Council in the United States and other countries.

This document is a product of the Graduate Management Admission Council (gmac.com), a nonprofit education organization of leading graduate business schools and owner of the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT exam), used by more than 6,100 graduate business and management programs worldwide. GMAC is based in Reston, Virginia, and has regional offices in London, New Delhi and Hong Kong. The GMAT exam—the only standardized test designed expressly for graduate business and management programs worldwide—is continuously available at approximately 600 test centers in 113 countries. More information about the GMAT exam is available at mba.com. For more information about GMAC, please visit gmac.com.